

Directo – business software for the smart company

Fast and flexible business software that covers all of your company's needs.

- management
- financial accounting
- sales
- purchase management
- stock management
- project management
- production
- customer relationship management
- payroll accounting
- electronic document management
- group work
- e-invoices

Directo is fully Internet-based business software, including financial accounting, resource planning, supply chain management, customer relationship management and electronic document management functions.

The goal of Directo is to be a tool helping company's employees in different fields and a way to automate routines to the maximum extent.

Directo increases the efficiency of your employees and reliability of the decision-making process.

Directo totally eliminates IT expenses on business software.

www.directo.ee

Unlimited integration

online store

customer stock management

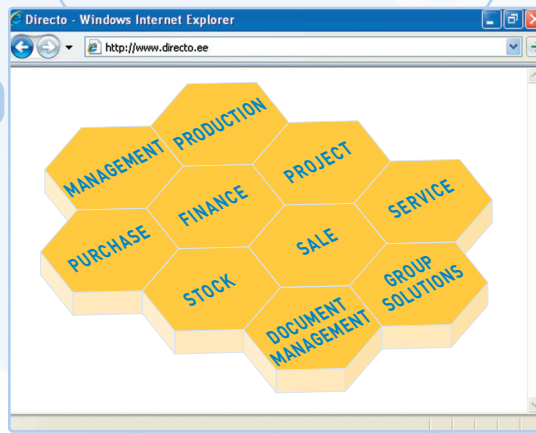

from Directo to Directo

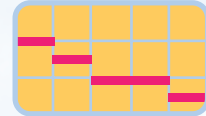

electronic document exchange

Supply chain management

resource planning

financial accounting

ERP

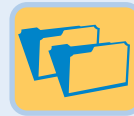

workforce management

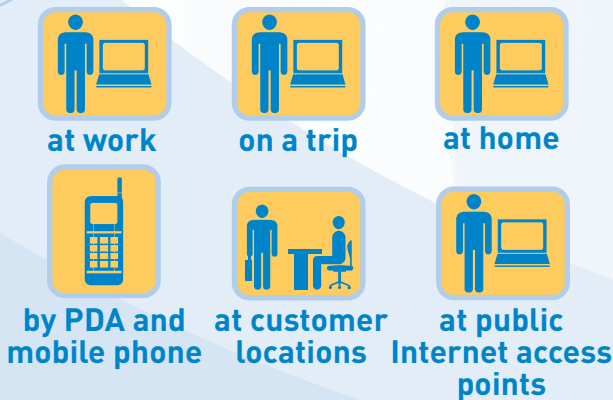

electronic document management

purchase invoice handling internal information management

100% Internet based

Group solutions

Excellent possibilities for group work. As Directo is powered by Web server, it is easy and cheap to connect units in different locations. The only requirement for connecting units is the existence of an Internet connection. All units and employees can use the same online database, and this guarantees adequate data for management and decisions. There is no need to exchange files or synchronize data. Directo offers broad possibilities for organizing and archiving information and documents.

Low expenses. Using Directo does not require complicated client-side technical solutions. Nor are additional software installation necessary. You only need Explorer version 7.0 or later (standard for most computers). You don't need your own server, either. This eliminates problems and overhead costs. All you have to do make sure there is an Internet connection.

The best technology. Directo databases are housed in professional servers, with top-level security. The database is Microsoft SQL 2005 and operating system Windows Server 2003. Both the server and operating system use 64 bit technology. This configuration guarantees maximum efficiency in processing data and Directo's program operation.

Security. Security is a common concern regarding Internet-based software. The security of Directo can be compared to the security of online banking. All of the connections between customer and server are encrypted and use a recognized security certificate. User privileges can be linked to ID card. It is also possible to restrict the computers (IP addresses) that can connect to the system. In addition to connection security data retention is taken care of at a higher level. Data is backed up nightly and retained for seven days. Your data is protected from theft and accidental destruction — because the data are not in your office, it is impossible to access or alter them if a computer is stolen. Data is not endangered by accidental events such as fire. Potentially malicious users cannot make illegal copies from the systemized database. A user profile can be designated for each employee, which determines his/her rights and possibilities to view and use data in Directo.

www.directo.ee

Flexible and fast development. Directo uses the latest technology. As a result, we can satisfy additional requests from customers with sufficient speed. The technology allows the software to be used for making upgrades and updates. For all our customers, constant free version updates are guaranteed.

Direct customer support. We resolve questions and problems efficiently. As assistance is provided over the Internet, our consultant can „be there“ for you without making a house call. Therefore all problems can be resolved almost immediately. The price of Directo includes customer support service.

A clear and sensible price. When you opt for Directo, you don't need to pay a high price for acquiring software with potential unexpected and vague maintenance or development fees at a later date. Directo works on a lease basis. You pay a monthly fee and get the specified services (business software + server + service). You can think of it as a monthly lease with no worries about unexpected pricing policy changes. This price model enables your company to save on the first year of use, compared to what you would pay for purchasing software.

www.directo.ee